Objectives

- Provide a 'hands-on' accurate assessment of how long the union effort has been going on; where it started; WHY it started; what your employees are saying and thinking; how well insulated the union presence is in your Henderson facility.
- Train supervisors and leadership of Company locations to prevent unionization with a focus on practical, hands-on tips to recognize and respond to the early behaviors of union organizing activity and create a positive employee relations environment.
- Cement your company's status as an employer of choice by teaching leaders the skills and abilities needed to create a positive work environment.

Value to Organization

- Proactively educating your staff on the disadvantages of unions and convincing them to put their trust in a direct relationship with you as opposed to an outside party like the union.
- You receive a world-class labor and employee relations team at the flip of a switch. This allows your company to immediately improve its corporate capability.
- You ensure that your facilities remain union-free, which gives your company a competitive advantage in its various markets and makes it less and less vulnerable to anti-corporate campaign pressure.
